BROWN PERSA

Description

Brown Persa is a golden Brazilian granite characterized by large maroon veining beige background veiled with rich greens. Brown Persa offers an unparalleled elegance with a unique rustic charm. Used for a large variety of applications including stairs, tables, sinks, counters and shower bases. Brown Persa is to the image of its country; colorful and diverse. Not only does Brazil offer its visitors a fascinating culture, its geodiversity enables it to create stones such as Brown Persa which conveys a unique style that will have those who incorporate a parcel of this Brazilian jewel to their decor dreaming of warm sandy beaches.

In the course of the polishing process, an epoxy resin is applied to the stone's surface to fill part of its porosity (or pores) and natural cracks that may be apparent. This has no incident on the durability, the maintenance or the beauty of the natural stone. It is possible that certain pores are too small to contain efficiently the resin, and reopen during the finishing stages. However, this does not affect the stone's quality or beauty. Such as it is the case with many natural stones, it is recommended to apply a sealer to extend its beauty through time.
