SUPREME WHITE EXTRA

Description

Supreme White Extra is extracted from a quarry in Brazil, one of the largest exporters of natural stone in the world. A continent with breathtaking landscapes that have travelled the world and thanks to this stone, will grace the homes of those lucky enough to incorporate it into their designs.

It is a dolomite marble with a very dense structure, a slightly more subtle veinage pattern and fewer separations in the minerals when compared to the Supreme White. The color variation is considerable between lots. Even though the stone's name is Supreme White Extra, its actual colors are a blend of whites with grey veining. Even though it may be more subject to etching, patina and stains, regular upkeep with a sealer will allow to preserve its beauty and unique appearance. Fibreglass is applied to the back of the stone to ensure a safe manipulation and fabrication.
